

71. Self-Awareness and Learning (0:34)

Yes, you should know yourself.

I started learning about myself when I was a kid because I became an adult.

I never was a kid. Carol used to say you never were a kid, Les. You were always an adult. You thought like an adult. You acted like an adult.

That's the self-awareness thing. Learning - that's my standard thing. I ask questions of everybody all the time. I still do!

Related Primary Leadership Principles

Active Listening

Continual Learning

Feedback

Intellectual Abilities

Information