

22. Do The Job Right (0:43)

And where I used to tell where I wanted my boss to stand? Right there, right there one foot behind me. One foot to the left and you can stand there 24 hours a day. That's where I want my boss.

I'm not ashamed of anything I ever did. And so you try to impart that on your troops. Yeah. Just do it, do the job right and then you can have the boss here all the time.

In fact, you'd rather have him here than not have him here because now he sees all the good stuff you do. Good to have the boss aware of what you're doing.

Okay good. And of course when your boss gets so he knows that's how you feel, then he doesn't have to be around ever.

Related Primary Leadership Principles

Attitude

Authority of Position

Continual Learning

Courage

Decision Making

Drive to Achieve

Effective Use of Resources

Expectations

Field Presence

Inspiration

Recognition