

23. Satisfaction of a Job Well Done (1:01)

It's kind of like people who get out of doing stuff and thinking that's a big achievement.

One of the worst achievements they could do is to get out of doing something. Because - in the first place - they didn't have the satisfaction of having a job well done because you got out of it. They don't even understand that and sometimes that achievement is a tremendous award.

You put that on top of a dozen of those "Or a lifetime or 98 years of it." When Dad says he's had a perfect life I am pretty close to having this perfect life. The good Lord couldn't have done any better for me as far as I'm concerned.

Every time he turned around - he gave me Carol and then he gave me you guys and then he gave me the 65ers and then he gave me 98 years.

Related Primary Leadership Principles

Effective Use of Resources

Military Core Values

Spirituality

Team-Building